

THE NEWS

W. C. STATELAR, EDITOR
SATURDAY - APRIL 25, 1861

The telegraphic dispatches from Charleston, this morning, are rather conflicting. The batteries of Sullivan's island, Morris' island and other points, were opened on Fort Sumpter at 4 o'clock yesterday. Fort Sumpter has returned the fire and a brisk cannonading has been kept up. The Herald's special says Ft. Moultrie began the bombardment with two guns, to which Anderson replied with three shots from his barbette guns, after which the batteries at Mount Pleasant, Cummings' Point and the floating battery opened a brisk fire of shot and shell. Anderson replied only at long intervals, when he opened from two or three guns, looking towards Moultrie and Stevens' battery, but up to three o'clock this morning failed to produce serious effect. During the greater part of the day Anderson directed his shots principally against Moultrie, the Stevens and floating battery at Fort Johnson, they being the only ones operating against him. Fifteen or sixteen shots struck the floating battery without effect. Prachies, of all appearances, are being made in the sides of Sumpter, exposed to the fire. There are two wounded on Sullivan's island.

We publish, in another column, a communication signed "Subscriber," which is filled with common sense. We have higher and more exalted notions than our late notices of the humbug, Dille, would warrant in noticing him. The same writer, (Subscriber) two years ago gave us this same advice, "Don't notice a fool." In a moment of excitement we did condescend to notice the vulgar, ungentlemanly remarks Dille and his pimp thrust at us. We know that we gain no credit for noticing him, and will have to quit.

Mrs. A. Hunter is now receiving a large supply of the finest and most fashionable Bonnets and Ladies' Dress Goods, ever brought to Columbus. Of Mrs. H's taste, in selecting goods, we need not speak, for the ladies who have patronized her for the past twenty years, know that this lady always has the latest styles and the best goods that are to be found in Columbus. Ladies wishing any article in the Millinery line, will do well to give Mrs. H. a call. Recollect that her store is on the north side of the public square.

The man who used every persuasion in his power to keep an old customer of ours from getting his job work done at our office, has been authorized to say, let one cash-paying customer.

We have not been paid for all the April election tickets we printed. Pay up, or we will have to forgive the debt.

Dille's pedigree is short. He came here as a tool; wanted to raise three hundred dollars from twelve men—two or three did subscribe—among that number was Dr. Hinman; this was used against Doc Hinman, during the canvass for the Clerkship of this county, and Hinman was beaten by the course pursued by Dille.

Went into a grocery to see if we had paid our liquor bill—Dille.

You didn't get into the liquor saloon at the time alluded to. That house has set you down as a bad egg.

Dille says that we owe a liquor bill. If we do, it is not the fifth part of the amount he owed for house rent, when he left here for Winchester.

Dille was published, in hand bills, by journey-men who worked for him, as dishonest.

Dick, you talk about thieves, and we would like to ask you who first stole that "monkey wrench." Dille or you?

A man forty years of age never could learn the King's English—quoth Dille.

If we never could learn the King's English, we had brains enough to learn the "multiplication table," which is more than Dille can say.

Particular attention is directed to the advertisement headed "Valuable Lands for Sale." This land will be sold on the most favorable terms.

Dille says he was in bad company when we worked for him, as we gave him the "itch." We did work for him, and had to dog our pay out of him. He came to Columbus, with the itch, (and thus in do us good to seem him scratch); he appeared to enjoy himself so well. The doctor, couldn't cure him. He had the witch-year-itch.

The thing of the Democrat (as the Republican man appropriately calls him), a name given Dille from his striking resemblance to Dr. Tompkins' dog, says, devotes about one-half of his paper to our benefit, in low, dirty twaddle. We have no idea that the readers of our paper feel any degree of interest in these little personalities, and we feel certain, that we never should have paid any attention to the low flung lan- guage used by Dille, had we not been, at the time of noticing him, a little mischieved. If him and his mad Friday don't use better language, we shall quit playing with them.

Winchester, Randolph county, Ind.

Dille left because he was so mean the negroes of the town would not associate with him.

Smith is bleeding hard for patronage from his old friends and customers. Call and see him, and if you want goods, he guarantees satisfaction.

What should be the object of Editors and Publishers of Newspapers? What is their duty to themselves and their Patrons?

Under this caption we propose to make a few suggestions, in doing which, we shall aim to rise above that low, selfish spirit, which has been characterized in some recent paragraphs in our County papers, and speak, as we hope they may, in the future with that becoming dignity that should attend the clear-sightedness of a public journal, intended for the family circle.

The object of every editor and publisher of a paper should be, to give to his patrons that which will interest and at the same time benefit them. This is what they all promise when they issue their Prospectus, to secure subscribers. As a subscriber there, we expect against those aims at gratification. It is time that this low flung newspaper warfare, that has found its way in several numbers of our County papers recently published, to the exclusion of more profitable and instructive matter, should cease, and that those who persist in indulging in it should have administered to them such a rebuke as would prove a warning to those who are to come after them, that an intelligent community will no longer countenance, encourage or tolerate it. We pity the human mind which does not rise above and beyond and seek a more lofty and elevated position than that of a scurrilous and vulgar paper. It is not your duty to yourself and your patrons to obtain from the use of such language as each other; and if you are the kind of man who represent each other as being, you are actually and avowedly a vulgar person, and you deserve the patronage of intelligent and civilized community. Syracuse.

The Centre of Attraction.

Smith's Corner is now the centre of attraction. We have noticed for some days past large numbers congregating at this old noted corner, which to us, was unaccountable; but, happening to drop in and peering some of their goods, and noticing the great variety they have on hand, we were no longer astonished. If you want goods cheap, and to be waited on politely, go to Smith's; Mr. Washburn, the Prince of salesmen, stands ever ready to accommodate all.

For extra good bargains in Prints, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes, go to Smith's.

At Smith's you can find any style of Lawns and Dress Goods, at the lowest prices.

The Madison Courier says there is a "pigeon roost" on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad a few miles north of Vernon. The birds are now building nests, and are eagerly hunted for market. Old pigeons are not very good eating at best, especially in the breeding season. In a short time the squabs will be out, and big enough to eat. They are a good deal better for table use, than the old birds.

The defeat of certain candidates for office, on last Monday week, is attributable, to a great extent, to the fact that one of the unfortunate candidates owned a "vulgar dog."

We have again been placed under obligations to our friends of the "shooting club," for a nice mess of "jack snipes."

The Savannah Republican says that the banks of that city have taken five hundred thousand dollars of the loan authorized by the Montgomery Congress.

Predicted Twenty-four Years Ago.

It is a remarkable fact that the present secession movement was foreshadowed just as it has occurred, in a work called the "Partisan Leader," attributed to the pen of Judge Upshur of Virginia, who was killed by the bursting of the Peace-maker. In that work, under the guise of a novel, it was professed that coming events were described. The Gulf States, it was described, had succeeded in consequence of the election of a Northern President, and Virginia and other border States were about following suit. An attempt was made to form treaties with foreign nations, and free trade was established, which gave the South an unexampled career of prosperity. The current of events twenty-four years later has given these predictions the form of fulfilled facts. The author only foreshadowed, however, what was in the minds of the leading politicians at that early day, and to prepare the way for what was the object of publishing the work.—Philadelphia Ledger.

MANNER OF DRAWING.

On the morning previous to the distribution, there will be a disinterested Committee appointed by the ticket holders present, and it shall be the duty of the Committee to come to our establishment and receive the articles enumerated in the list of Gifts, and to hold them until the drawing is determined, and distribute them accordingly. 2d. At the hour appointed for the drawing to commence, 7 o'clock A. M., the ticket holders will assemble at McClellan Hall and appoint a second committee, whose duty it shall be to superintend the drawing. Every ticket has the same number on each end, one of which is retained when the ticket is sold, and on the day of drawing is delivered to the hands of the committee, who count them carefully, to see if all the numbers are there, from one upward, corresponding with the number of tickets issued. After having satisfied themselves that all the tickets are in place all the numbers in a hollow wheel, revolving rapidly until all the numbers are thoroughly mixed. They then select a small boy and blind-fold him. He puts his hand into the wheel and draws out one number. One of the committee receive it from him, and calls the number loudly, so that all persons present can hear it distinctly, and the other two committees each keep a record of all the numbers as they are drawn and called. The first drawn number entitles the holder of the other end of the ticket, to the first prize on the programme; and so in the next number, and the next, and so on until the prizes are all drawn out. Immediately after the drawing is determined, they will be published and sent to all ticket holders; and all prizes will be sent by mail or express at our risk and expense.

PROF. L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR. AN EFFECTIVE, SAFE AND ECONOMICAL COMPOUND.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR to its original color without dyeing, and preventing its falling out.

FOR PREVENTING BALDNESS, and curing it, when there is the least particle of vitality or recuperative energy remaining.

FOR REMOVING SCALP AND DANDRUFF, and all cutaneous affections of the Scalp.

FOR BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, imparting to it an unequalled gloss and brilliancy, making it soft and silky in its texture and causing it to curl readily.

The great celebrity and the increasing demand for this unequalled preparation, convince the proprietor that one trial is only necessary to satisfy a discerning public of its superior qualities over any other preparation at present in use. It cleanses the head and scalp from dandruff, it luxuriates, and gives it a rich, soft, glossy and flexible appearance, and also where the hair is loosening and thinning, it will give strength and vigor to the roots, and restore the growth to those parts which have become bald, causing it to yield a fresh covering of hair.

There are hundreds of ladies and gentlemen in New York who have had their hair restored by the use of this Invigorator, when all other preparations had failed. L. M. has in his possession letters innumerable testifying to the above facts. It not only prevents the hair from turning gray until the latest period of life; and in cases where the hair has already changed its color, the use of the Invigorator will with certainty restore it to its original hue, giving a dark, glossy appearance. As a perfume for the scalp, and a hair restorer, it is particularly recommended, having an agreeable fragrance; and the great facilities it affords in dressing the hair, which, when most with the Invigorator can be dressed in any required form so as to preserve its place, whether plain or curled—hence the great demand for it by the ladies as a standard toilet article, which none ought to be without, as the price places it within the reach of all, being Only Twenty-five Cents. per bottle, to be had at all respectable druggists' and perfumers.

L. MILLER would call the attention of Parents and Guardians to the use of his Invigorator, in cases where the children's Hair inclines to be weak. The use of it lays the foundation for a good head of hair as it removes any impurities that may have become connected with the scalp, the removal of which is necessary both for the health of the child, and the future appearance of its Hair.

CAUTION.—None genuine without the face simile LOUIS MILLER being on the outer wrapper; also, L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR, N. Y. blown in the glass. Beware of cheap imitations. Wholesale Depot, 56 Deg. St. and sold by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the world.
